

All my faith lost ...

as you're vanishing in silence

Track Listing:

Come close my lover
Your silent tears
Rain has fallen all the day
She came to me
At that hour
Triste quiete
All day i hear your voice
Disclose your eyes
Sleep now
Autumn
Silent lady

This material possesses quality and individuality. With an acoustic instrumentation of guitars, flute, piano and violin along with the members, Viola and Federico's own technique, spirit and presence, All My Faith Lost ... create an openly honest sound that is hard to come by these days, with a purity that is almost painfully intense. Italian melancholic ethereal as we know from bands such as Gothica, Ordo Equitum Solis and also even some of the calmer dark-acoustic sets of Ain Soph, intertwined with influences of the darkwave bands heard on the American label, Projekt. This is sound-balm for the ears, far away from daily stress and the disturbing noises of today. Volumes are low, lyrics are whispered - it's sparse, soft and dangerously seductive.
